Join the race to save lives

For the first time in the 116 year history of the Boston Marathon, a runner from Lesotho will participate in this world-class race. Based on his athletic ability and his desire to represent his country and SHARED, Mr. Motlokoa Clement Nkhabutlane will run the 26.2 miles of the marathon on April 16, 2012.

As SHARED's guest, Mr. Nkhabutlane will speak to community groups, schools, and other events to raise awareness of the plight of the 400,000 orphans in the impoverished country of Lesotho. He will share his inspiring story of training and running to lift himself out of difficult circumstances to stay healthy. Motlokoa is a role model to the people, especially the children, of Lesotho.
